ALMA MATER

(TUNE: Cornell)

High above the shining water
Of an inland sea
Stand the halls of Alma Mater—
Ever mine to be!—
Front the dawn, and facing eastward
Rear the cross to meet the day:
Hail to thee, O Alma Mater,
Hail to thee alway!

Gold the stars above thy steeple
In the dying day
Cheer the hearts of thankful people
Gathered here to pray;
Home of faith and truth and freedom,
School of Christ, the living Way:
Hail to thee, O Alma Mater,
Hail to thee alway!

SEABURY-WESTERN

Seabury Divinity School was founded at Faribault, Minnesota, in the year 1858 by that noble apostolic missionary, James Lloyd Breck. For over three quarters of a century Seabury continued to send out a stream of devoted clergy and missionaries into the Northwest.

Western Theological Seminary was founded in Chicago in 1883 by a physician, Dr. Tolman Wheeler, at the urgent request of Bishop William E. McLaren. From the very outset it was intended to represent the whole Episcopal Church, not any particular party or group. For forty years the Seminary progressed, at a site on Washington Boulevard. In 1923 the Trustees accepted the joint offer of Northwestern University and of Garrett Biblical Institute, of a site in Evanston at the corner of Sheridan Road and Haven Street, opposite the University campus. Here were erected in Tudor Gothic the present group of buildings, which were opened for classes in the fall of 1929. Living quarters and commons are provided for fifty students in the dormitories and refectory.

In 1933 it was decided to remove Seabury from Faribault to Evanston and to unite it with Western Theological Seminary. The union has quickened with renewed ardor the fine old missionary enthusiasm that inspired the foundation of both Seabury and Western.

Located in close proximity to a great modern University, and enjoying the full advantages of association with it in pursuing the aims of higher education, the Seminary nevertheless preserves the distinctive atmosphere and the intimate fellowship of a small group devoted to a common interest, theological study and preparation for the sacred ministry.

The Seminary buildings are located on Haven Street, which is 2200 North in Evanston, between Sheridan Road and Orrington Avenue, directly across the street from Northwestern University. To a visitor coming from Chicago the buildings may be reached by getting off the Elevated train or the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad at the Noyes Street station, then walking two and a half blocks east and one block south.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

In conformity with the standards of the American Association of Theological Schools, the Seminary requires students to obtain their bachelor's degree in arts or science before beginning the study of theology. Students without a bachelor's degree from an approved college are accepted as special students only and cannot become candidates for the B.D. degree.

Students who expect to enter the Seminary should pay special attention, during their undergraduate courses in college or university, to the following subjects:

1. Literature.—Rhetoric and Composition, History of English and American Literature, English Bible (chiefly its contents), Latin, and either French or German. (Greek may be begun in the Junior year of the Seminary course).

2. History.—Ancient, Mediaeval and Modern European, English, and American.

3. Science.—General or Introduction, History of Science, one Natural Science (elective), and Psychology.

4. Philosophy.—History of Philosophy or Introduction to Philosophy, and Ethics.

Applicants for admission to the Seminary must send in the following papers:

1. Formal application on blank supplied by the Seminary office.

2. If applicant desires to apply for a scholarship he should make that application on scholarship blank supplied by the Seminary office.

3. Full transcript of college credits.

4. Physician's certificate of recent date, blank to be supplied by the Seminary office.

5. Letters of recommendation from the applicant's Bishop, his Rector, and two laymen.

6. A brief sketch of the applicant's life, in his own handwriting, setting forth his reasons for desiring to study for the sacred ministry.

7. A recent photograph.

8. An essay (c. 2000 words) on an assigned subject, before September 1st of the year the applicant expects to enter the Seminary. The subject for 1941 is: "The Malvern Manifesto."

A student is admitted as a regular student only at the beginning of the Michaelmas Term.

The Faculty reserves to itself the privilege of making selection among applicants and, particularly at the end of the first year, of those students whom it desires to continue as members of the student body. In no case shall the Faculty be required to set forth its reasons for such choice or to open its minutes regarding its deliberations.

MATRICULATION

In order to matriculate, students must have a college degree, and they must also pass a comprehensive examination on the contents of the English Bible, including an account of its chief versions, and either be able to read the Greek New Testament or be enrolled in the course in Elementary Greek in the Seminary.

The Matriculation Pledge is as follows:

We, the undersigned, having fulfilled the entrance requirements of Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, and desiring to continue the studies leading to graduation, do hereby apply for admission as matriculates, and do pledge ourselves, as far as in us lies, to uphold the honor and maintain the welfare of this our alma mater; and in particular to set before ourselves individually that standard of intellectual honesty, of reverence for sound learning, and of life-long devotion to the study of Theology, which we believe should characterize the sacred ministry, and to which we hereby openly pledge ourselves as matriculants of this Seminary.

This examination may be partly oral, at the discretion of the Faculty. Seniors taking the final comprehensive examinations will be excused from term examinations in the Easter Term.

Licentiate in Theology.—Students who enter the Seminary without having previously obtained their bachelor's degree in arts or science, but who have satisfactorily completed all class requirements for the Bachelor of Divinity degree, may, by vote of the Faculty, be awarded the Diploma of Licentiate in Theology. Likewise, regularly enrolled students who fail either to produce an acceptable thesis or to pass the final comprehensive examinations may, by vote of the Faculty, be awarded the Diploma of Licentiate in Theology instead of the Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Bachelor of Divinity.—In addition to completing the required courses during three full academic years of residence, the candidate for the degree of B.D. must attain an average grade of 80 or higher, present in his Senior year an acceptable research project showing evidence of his ability to do independent work with a minimum of supervision, and pass satisfactorily the final comprehensive examinations. It is to be emphasized, however, that mere completion of courses does not in any sense guarantee the granting of the B.D. degree to a student. That student must also satisfy the Faculty as to his general worthiness.

Master of Sacred Theology.—Graduates of the Seminary holding the degree of B.D. or S.T.B., and clergymen in the immediate neighborhood of the Seminary who hold the degree of B.D. or S.T.B. from an accredited seminary, may apply for candidacy toward the degree of S.T.M. One year of residential study or at least two years of extra-mural study are required for the degree. Before applying for candidacy for the S.T.M. degree the candidate must satisfy the Faculty member in charge of the field in which his work lies that his preparation has been adequate and that he is worthy to take up advanced work.

The Master's degree is offered in the following fields of study: Old Testament; New Testament; Church History; Systematic Theology, including History, Philosophy and Psychology of Religion; Ethics and Moral Theology; Liturgics; and Ecclesiastical Polity and Canon Law.

Prior to admission to candidacy the applicant must pass a written examination in his field, including its literature, together with an examination in such languages as may be necessary for efficient work in his field (e.g. Hebrew for Old Testament, Greek for New Testament, Latin for Church History or Liturgics, French or German for Systematic Theology). By vote of the Faculty the ground of the preliminary examination may be limited to some portion of the field (as Early Church, Mediæval Church, the Reformation Period, American Church History).

The candidate shall pursue intensive study of some subject or subjects within his field. He shall present a satisfactory dissertation showing evidence of thorough independent study of some topic within his field and shall be examined by the Faculty on his subject of concentration. The candidate's program of study and reports of progress shall be scrutinized by one member of the Faculty in addition to the Faculty member under whom he is working.

The candidate must report on the progress of his studies, in person or by letter, within two weeks after the beginning of each school term. If he fails to report for two consecutive terms his candidacy will be considered as lapsed. All responsibility with regard to reporting is placed upon the candidate himself.

ORDINATION

In accordance with the general practice of seminaries in the Anglican Communion, students are not expected to be ordained prior to the Lenten Embertide of their Senior year. While the Seminary does not presume to dictate in a matter resting largely in the hands of the student's ecclesiastical superiors, it reserves to itself the right of insisting on the strict maintenance of academic standards by ordained students.

MARRIAGE

Students within the Seminary must secure permission of the Faculty before undertaking the responsibility of marriage. In any case, married students are not eligible for scholarships, nor are they permitted to live in the Seminary dormitories.

THE CHAPEL

Spiritual life at the Seminary is centered in its beautiful chapel, a memorial to the Right Reverend Charles Palmerston Anderson, D.D., LL.D., for thirty years Bishop of Chicago, and at the time of his death Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church. The regular daily chapel services are the Holy Eucharist at seven-thirty and Choral Evensong at five. Daily prayers are offered at noon by the students in rotation. There is a special preacher at Evensong on Thursdays. Additional services are provided from time to time, with meditations, preparations for communion, and other helps to the spiritual life. A Quiet Day is provided once each term. With the exception of Evensong and the Eucharist on Sundays and Holy Days, attendance at the services is voluntary, but students are expected to be regular in attendance at all services, particularly at Holy Communion.

Like all the other buildings of the new Seabury-Western group, the chapel is Early Tudor Gothic in design, high and perpendicular, and is built of random ashlar fieldstone, trimmed with Indiana limestone. The woodwork is weathered oak, and the altar is of marble. With the addition of the new Möller pipe organ in 1934, which was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. John Denby Allen in memory of their daughter, Barbara Mary, the furnishing of the chapel is almost complete. The organ is a three manual, with twenty-six stops, including four sets of sixteen-foot open diapasons; and it has the very latest improved type of remote control as well as other features of modern organ designing.

SPECIAL LECTURES

In addition to the regular courses of instruction, special lecturers visit the Seminary from time to time and give either single lectures or series of lectures in the subjects of their special interest. These lectures are open to the public.

Hale Sermons and Lectures. The annual Hale Sermon on some aspect of the Church's work is another lecture of interest. In alternate years, or as frequently as the funds permit, courses of Hale Lectures are given on various subjects comprehended within the specifications of the will of the Rt. Rev. Charles Reuben Hale, D.D., LL.D. The Hale Foundation was established by Bishop Hale in memory of his wife, Anna McKnight Twiggs Hale.

THE LIBRARIES

There are two libraries, the Hibbard Old Testament Library which was the gift of Mrs. Lydia Hibbard, and the Robert Bowman Gregory Memorial Library which was the gift of Mrs. Robert B. Gregory. The Hibbard Library contains more than 7,000 volumes, including much material of rare value on Egyptology and Assyriology. It has also a small museum, mainly Egyptian, facsimiles of the chief New Testament manuscripts and files of the most important periodicals on Semitic and Oriental subjects. The Gregory Library on the main floor is the general library and reading room and, including books in the basement, contains over 30,000 volumes. In this library all the regular theological subjects are fully represented. In addition, the sections on Philosophy, Psychology, Greek and Latin Classics, Biography, History, and Social Science are well supplied. In the case of books regularly assigned for class work, several copies of each are on the Reserve shelves. Each classroom has also a small departmental library containing the more important works in each Department.

Library hours are 9 to 5 Monday to Friday inclusive, and 9 to 12 on Saturday.

The Libraries of Northwestern University and Garrett Biblical Institute are within five minutes walk of the Seminary and are available to Seminary students.

The business office of the Anglican Theological Review is located at the Seminary and the journals received in exchange for this quarterly are placed in the Library. Owing to this arrangement an unusually large number of periodicals, both American and foreign, are available to the faculty and students.

The Library staff is selected from the student body and thus certain students each year have an opportunity to learn library methods and to acquire an acquaintance with the important books in each department.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES

The Seminary operates on the "West Point" plan. This provides that any unmarried student, regularly admitted, who is a postulant or candidate from a diocese in the Anglican Communion, and who maintains degree average and satisfies the Faculty as to his fitness for the sacred ministry, may, by vote of the Faculty, be excused from such charges for board and room ($300 a year) as are beyond his financial ability to pay. There are no charges for tuition. It should be a matter of pride to each student to remit to the Seminary as large a part of the board and room fee as he is actually able to carry himself. This may be as little as ten dollars a quarter but one entering upon a life of consecration will desire to shoulder as much of his own burden from the beginning as his means allow. Such arrangement is made privately with the Dean.

The following scholarships are open:

William Malcolm Freeborne Scholarship.—Value $300.00. Subject to nomination by the Bishop of Springfield. Preference to be be given to men of high academic standing.

Harriet Blair Borland Scholarship.—Value $300.00. To be awarded by the Faculty.

Walford Lindsay Dallas Scholarship.—Awarded at the discretion of the Faculty. In memory of Walford Lindsay Dallas.

Angus and Lucile Hibbard Scholarship.—Value $300.00. Awarded by the Faculty for outstanding scholarship and general ability.

Seabury Scholarships.—Open to men who are adequately qualified scholastically and who agree to give the first three years of their ministry to the Province of the Northwest. Awarded by the Seabury Scholarship Committee.

Faculty Scholarships.—Awarded by the Faculty at the end of each term to apply upon the following term. Students meriting Faculty scholarships automatically receive a scholarship covering their first term.

The following Prizes have been authorized by the Faculty:

Helen Ledyard Field Prize in Homiletics.—Value $50.00. To be awarded in the Easter term to the member of the Middler Class who is chosen to preach the sermon at Evensong on SS. Philip and James' Day; to be awarded solely on the basis of outstanding ability, the prize to be expended in the purchase of books.

Dramatic Society Prize.—Value $25.00. To be awarded in the Epiphany Term for proficiency in chanting the choral service. Open to members of the Senior class.

Alumni Prize in Greek Testament.—Value $50.00. Awarded at the end of the Junior year for the best work in Greek Testament. Open to students who began Greek in the previous fall.

Alumni Prize in English Bible.—Value $50.00. Awarded at the end of the Junior year for the most thorough knowledge of the contents of the English Bible.

Diefendorff-Bennett Prize.—Value $22.00. Awarded to the Senior who in the opinion of the Faculty best reads "a selected service, with clarity, sincerity and intelligence."

The winners of the Dramatic Society, Diefendorff-Bennett, and Helen Ledyard Field Memorial Prizes conduct the service of Evensong and preach on the Thursday nearest SS. Philip and James' Day.

The Altar Guilds of the Dioceses of Minnesota and Chicago present each year one vestment to each of two graduating Seniors chosen by the Faculty. The Chicago award is in memory of Mrs. Agnes Richards, founder and for several years head of the Needlework Guild. The Minnesota award is in memory of Jessie Stevens Crouse, founder and president of the Diocesan Altar Guild.

Mahlon Norris Gilbert Book Prize.—A book chosen by the Faculty is awarded to each member of the graduating class. Established in 1938 by the Rev. Ernest Dray in memory of the Rt. Rev. Mahlon Norris Gilbert, Bishop-coadjutor of the Diocese of Minnesota from 1886 to 1900.

Matriculation Bible Prize.—Awarded each year by the Faculty to the matriculant taking highest standing in the examination on the contents of the English Bible.

The Student Convocation.—This is the organization of the undergraduates, and although not possessing disciplinary powers it provides natural expression for the corporate life of the school. Members of the Convocation pay dues of four dollars a year. This fee covers practically every expense of the student in connection with the Convocation, including social activities. A student who fails to pay his dues is not entitled to receive the Convocation cross, awarded every year by the Convocation to graduating seniors.

The Alumni Association.—The Alumni Association meets regularly each year at Commencement, and represents the organized interest of the graduates in the life of their alma mater. Two of the Seminary Trustees are nominated by the Alumni, and their loyalty has been expressed by generous gifts to the Scholarship Fund and in many other ways.

President:	The Rev. Gordon E. Brant
Vice-President:	The Rev. John Heuss
Secretary:	The Rev. Paul S. Kramer
Treasurer:	The Rev. William A. Driver

The list of living alumni includes 476 names. It is interesting to note that of the 149 clergy of the Diocese of Chicago, 54 are Seabury-Western alumni. Of the 75 clergy in Minnesota, 39 are Seabury-Western men, and of the 396 clergy in the Province of the Northwest, 114 are Seabury-Western men. The Seminary has alumni in 78 of the 89 dioceses and missionary districts in the United States.

Breck Missionary Society.—One fine tradition of old Seabury which has been continued in the combined schools is Breck Missionary Society, founded in May, 1892. The Society is named in memory of Dr. James Lloyd Breck, famed early missionary of the Church in this country and founder of Seabury Divinity School. All members of the Student Convocation are members of Breck Missionary Society.

DONATIONS AND BEQUESTS

A number of friends of the Seminary contribute an annual sum of $100 or more toward the operation of the school. In some instances full scholarships ($300 a year) are provided by individuals. Due to reduced income from investments at the present time these contributions are an indispensable help.

It is hoped that in time Memorials will provide for the completion of the Chapel. Faculty stalls and sedilia, and permanent glass in the windows are yet to be provided.

Approximate amounts needed to complete the Chapel are as follows:

Faculty Stalls and Sedilia	$6,000.00
Reredos	5,000.00
East Window (Te Deum)	4,650.00
Other Windows, each	1,500.00

Many persons unable to provide scholarships or other memorials during their lifetime are, nevertheless, glad to include the Seminary in their wills. This has been in times past a major source of the endowment of the great religious and educational institutions of the world. In terms of the history of such institutions in the Old World, and of some even in our own country, Seabury-Western is still in its infancy. We earnestly hope that the material means may be supplied which will make possible the adequate development of this Seminary. It has a boundless future of usefulness before it. Every contribution added to its endowment means the expansion and perpetuation of its work for Christ and His Church.

Form of Devise of Real Estate

EXPENSES

Since the student is the recipient of all that is involved in the West Point plan and has relatively few additional expenses, the Seminary reserves to itself the right to permit a student to undertake additional work, academic, ecclesiastical or secular. While such opportunities are usually present, permission to undertake them must be secured from the Seminary Chaplain and must be conditioned upon the student's ability to complete satisfactorily his Seminary work and obligations.

Living quarters in the dormitories are arranged in suites for two men (two single bedrooms and a study), with a few single rooms for those who prefer them. Rooms are furnished with bed, mattress, pillow, chest of drawers with mirror, desk, chairs, and in some cases book-shelves. Blankets, sheets, pillow-cases and towels must be supplied by students.

In addition to bedding and books (for the latter the student must expect to spend between $30.00 and $40.00 a year), each student must supply himself with an academic gown, to be worn in chapel, and a cassock for use when officiating or serving. If the student has a bachelor's hood it may be worn with his academic gown. Academic gowns may be purchased at the Seminary office.

Each student must render to the Seminary five hours of work a week, for two years at least, in the Refectory, Library, Office or other department of the Seminary.

The Seminary Refectory is closed during the Christmas and Easter vacations (as well as on Sunday evenings during the school year), and a student must therefore make other arrangements for his meals at these times. A charge of fifty cents per night is made for room rent during the holidays if the student chooses to remain in the dormitory.

The Seminary is doing all within its power to aid worthy and capable students to complete their theological education. It does so first of all by making no charge for tuition to candidates for the sacred ministry or other students preparing for service in the Church. The actual cost of instruction amounts to approximately $500 a year per student—more or less the average cost of education in standard institutions of learning in this country.

In the next place, the Seminary provides first class living quarters with all modern conveniences, and excellent table board during the three terms of the academic year, at a cost to the student of only $300 for board and room, light, heat and service. This represents the actual cost to the Seminary, and is much less than the usual charge at fraternity houses, university dormitories, and boarding houses.

Actual expenses per year approximate the following:

Board and room fee	$300.00
Expenses during Christmas and Easter holidays	30.00
Transportation to and from Seminary	?
Laundry, about $1.00 per week	34.00
Books, stationery, etc.	50.00
Gown and Cassock	20.00
Clothing	50.00
Convocation Dues	4.00
Athletic Fee	2.00
Personal expenses, including recreation and incidentals	60.00
Total, over and above transportation	$550.00

SEABURIENSIS FLOREAT

(TUNE: Tannenbaum)

In verdant beauty stand the trees
Around those dear old vine-clad halls,
Whose name I'll love till mem'ry flees,
Where'er I roam where duty calls.

Chorus

A fostering mother in the way
That leadeth right for aye and aye—
Seaburiensis floreat!
Seaburiensis floreat!

Her many sons bear far and wide
The flaming banner in His name,
Nor will they e'er its splendor hide—
'Tis her fair glory and her fame.

Chorus

Let us, her sons, together stand
In love and truth forever strong,
To fight for faith and fatherland
Till victor-crowned we sing the song:

Chorus

Traditional.
